Elsworth/Borden lose USDA Certification Palmer Meat Plant Due to Animal Cruelty

Alaska Meat Packers, Inc. lost their authority to slaughter animals at the largest meat packing facility in Alaska at Palmer after a documented incident of animal cruelty on October 20, 2024â??observed and reported by inspectors for the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Annual lease payment for the plant was made in November by Bill Borden, who originally had the listing to sell the plant formerly known as Mt McKinley Meats and Sausages from owner Greg Giannulis. Instead of selling it for an honest commission, Borden sold 85% ownership in a paper company to Todd Elsberry from North Pole, AK to entangle him in a Lease Scheme and guaranteed purchase price in 5 years.

This created Alaska Meat Packersâ?? Pig in a Poke.

This Has Not Been a Good Deal for Elsberry

From the USDA Notice of Suspension issued October 30, 2024:

The decision to institute this enforcement action is in accordance with Title 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Rules of Practice 500.3(b), based on the determination that your establishment did not handle or slaughter animals humanely. The evidence demonstrates failure to comply with the Federal Meat Inspection Act (FMIA) (21 U.S.C. 603), the Humane Methods of Slaughter Act (HMSA) (7 U.S.C. 1901 et seq.), and the regulatory requirements (9 CFR Prut 313).

THIS OCCURRED IN FRONT OF AN INSPECTOR!

What is known as the Stun Box IS where a certain specific cow was witnessed to be improperly dispatched causing it great distress due to utter incompetence by operators of this plant. This writer once enjoyed a cookâ??s tour of the facility, then known as Mt. McKinley Meats and Sausages by manager Rayne Reynolds, before it was leased to Alaska Meat Packers Inc. in November, 2021.

THIS OCCURRED IN FRONT OF AN INSPECTOR!

AK Farmers: Was this YOUR Animal Tortured Before Merciful Dispatch?

Basis for the suspension:

On 10/20/23, at approximately 0858am, I observed the stun operator at Alaska Meat Packers Inc. ineffectively stun a cow with a hand-held captive bolt (HHCB) device in the stun box without a head catch. After the first ineffective stun attempt, I observed the cow lying down in the stun box with its head held upright, showing signs of controlled movement and labored breathing. The stun operator attempted to immediately stun the cow a second time with the backup HHCB device, which I observed the stun operator load, but was unable to reach the cow while leaning over the stun box. After several attempts to get clear placement, the stun operator had another employee hold his legs so he could lean over into the stun box. At approximately 0902am, stun operator applied the second stun attempt which was also ineffective. After the ineffective second stun, the cow began vocalizing. A third stun attempt was applied with one of the reloaded HHCB devices at approximately 0904am. This attempt was also ineffective as the cow continued vocalizing, rhythmic heavy breathing and moving around slightly within the stun box while still holding its head up. After the third ineffective attempt, Ms. Sanders asked the FSIS inspection for advice and/or input on whether the plant should use their firearm instead; to which our inspection team stated, yes please use the firearm. At approximately 0905am, establishment management vacated the slaughter floor to retrieve a firearm (pistol) utilizing .38 special cartridges. Everyone cleared from the slaughter floor and went to a safe location into the hallway/breakroom. At approximately 0908am, the stun operator attempted to stun the cow for the fourth time with the firearm. The attempt was ineffective as the cow continued vocalizing. I continued waiting in the hall for another (fifth) attempt, then an employee came out and informed everyone that the animal was dead. When I walked back onto the slaughter floor at approximately 09:10 am, I observed the cow to already be shackled and hoisted up on the rail, with its neck slit and bleeding out. The animal no longer showed signs of being conscious. At approximately 0913am, I applied U.S. Reject tag to the stun box with U.S. Rejected Tag NO. B35943003. The establishment management was verbally informed of the forthcoming noncompliance. Upon inspection of the dressed head, three penetrating holes were observed, which were angled into the sinuses.

How many animals has this operation tortured under its USDA authority in three years and how can it be possible after all this time that the operators were not able to do a routine dispatch of this animal before a USDA Inspector?

Recent Notice the Plant Might Close

September 27, 2024:

Lone USDA-certified meat processing plant in Southcentral Alaska to close in coming months

Owner says plant is no longer accepting more animals for processing

[2] Alaska News Farce did a superficial story on this with the spokesman for the Ag Bureau telling the lie that it was closing because of cost of feed. Link to that story in References

The public notice that this plant might be closing occurred as the owner company faced annual lease payment TO THE EXCLUSIVE OWNER Greg Giannulis, due November 9, 2024. General concern was generated on social media among AK agriculture interests at the prospect of losing this slaughterhouse, when a person named Ben Adams announced he had purchased the plant and would be running it!

Adams has no ownership interest in the plant but Todd Elsberry has been making lease payments under the deal and is behind $23,978.31 on a state ag loan.

Mr. Adams is a rare attorney who lies. Perhaps four years of raising cattle in Alaska has damaged his moral compass. Mr. Adams has not purchased the Palmer plant. Mr. Adams might qualify as a Mark for Borden as a result of all his statements of desperation online. This writer has first-hand knowledge of how that works. Maybe Adams should consider how much worse his situation COULD be.

Adams made a number of posts professing to buy the plant.

The Palmer Plant is back in operation but remains in full ownership of Giannulis. From reading Adams's voluminous posting about the travails of farming in Alaska, any rational person would conclude Mr. Adams has all he can manage there. Still, Mr. Adams insists he bought and took possession of the plant until he recently went radio silent in view of the facts.

From a previous story:

Who hasn't heard of a real estate huckster finding a way to sell a property, knowing the purchaser cannot afford it, hoping to pick up that property on the bounce for pennies on the dollar?

It happens?!

I'm uncertain how to find the strength or will to continue. I spent 13 hours yesterday driving to Point Mackenzie to put cows away. While I was away, my very best cow went into labor and there were complications. Her calf died- and I am to blame because I wasn't here. Today, I was looking forward to spending some time with my best friend from high school, who I haven't seen much in the last 35 years. Instead, we are loading up to drive another 5 hours back to Point Mac tonight because the cows are out. It is 13-15 hours each time. It was suggested today that I truck my cows home, but I need to fix fence first. Yesterday, we discovered a dead cow and calf. I am utterly exhausted and this constant death and work has me wondering how quickly I can sell my cattle, pay my debts and be done. 3 losses in a week and thousands of dollars in fuel and time- for a profession that was already without profit. This might be the last straw. Let me see if I can make it one more day.

I feel a millimeter from quitting. Just being done. Most of my cows are on pasture in Point Mackenzie. It's a great spot. But the cows keep getti... See more

Oh the pathos: All Adams's posts are gone. The numbers of animals lost under his care has been a grave concern to some posters responding to 4T%.

FACT: The physical plant was purchased from the State of Alaska by Greg Giannulis in 2017. AK Entertainment News cannot figure that out. Giannulis invested heavily in upgrades and made a profit producing beef and pork for Alaskans with that facility over four years without any government subsidy through an earthquake and the Covid-19 Pandemic. Giannulis had a vision for promoting Alaska Food Security for Alaskans beginning with supplying enough animals to continue making this plant profitable at 350-700 animals processed per week in a quality facility.

True AK Food Security would require 2,000-4,000 Animals/Mo

Upon notifying legislators and top members of the Dunleavy Administration of this vision to move Alaska toward TRUE FOOD SECURITY, Giannulis learned that because some $3-$4 Billion is sent from Alaska to Seattle for beef, pork and chicken annually it ain't going to happen! Alaska public officials blow smoke about AK Food Security during campaigns but once elected in districts around the state none are EVER going to do anything in Backwater Juneau to reduce that $gravy train$ to Seattle.

When Giannulis leased the plant to Elsberry/Borden dba Alaska Meat Packers, Inc. he likely never imagined they would torture animals through incompetence in the slaughter process. According to the USDA report the Plant Manager Lacy Sanders sought instruction on how to finish off the injured bleating animal pinned in the Stun Box with a .38 pistol.

THIS OCCURRED IN FRONT OF AN INSPECTOR!

Elsberry/Borden returned to being subsidized by the State of Alaska Department of Corrections as it had been before it was sold to Giannulis. The State sold it because it was a money pit. This writer personally witnessed Borden making cold calls of persons likely to consider purchasing the Palmer slaughterhouse when he first gained listings for this and other properties from Giannulis,.

Today Elsberry's have reportedly sold out of their hog farm. They are partners with a guy who did a dirty deal to get into an ownership position with an Alaska Corporation having nothing of true value. This writer also has experience with Borden setting me up using the same scam. Had Borden sold the facility to a worthy buyer and took an honest commission Alaska would be in a better position for food security. Instead, Alaska Meat Packers, Inc. is a marginal operation that has brought public shame to the MatSu Ag Community.

How COULD that have Happened?

Adams is Named President?? but has ZERO Ownership Interest in the Company Too bad the State of Alaska doesn't have an Attorney General who does anything but the Governor's vanity work. Borden violated this writer as a 60-year Alaskan to the point that I feared for my life in my own Eagle River home alone after he burglarized it and stole a number of items including my RING Security System to make sure I knew I was never again safe there. He should have been investigated a long time ago but Alaska Courts Coddle Criminals.

Borden and his mother are long time contributors to Mike Dunleavy's political career.

Moral: When an Alaskan politician or bureaucrat says the two words "food security" in your presence be careful not to bend over until they are gone.

Attention: Mr. Elsberry, Owner

Notice of Suspension

This letter serves as official notification by the Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) of our decision to withhold the federal marks of inspection and suspend the assignment of Inspection Program Personnel (IPP) at Alaska Meat Packers Inc., M20891, located at 385 E. Outer Springer Loop, Palmer, Alaska. This letter follows verbal notification of the suspension action, provided by Dr. Rober Reeder, District Manager, to Ms. Lacy Sanders, Plant Manager, at approximately 1300 MST on October 30, 2023. This action includes your Slaughter Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP) processes employed at your establishment.

The decision to institute this enforcement action is in accordance with Title 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Rules of Practice 500.3(b), based on the determination that your establishment did not handle or slaughter animals humanely. The evidence demonstrates failure to comply with the Federal Meat Inspection Act (FMIA) (21 U.S.C. 603), the Humane Methods of Slaughter Act (HMSA) (7 U.S.C. 1901 et seq.), and the regulatory requirements (9 CFR Part 313).

Background/Authority

The FMIA (21 USC 601 et seq.) provides it is essential to the public interest that the health and welfare of consumers be protected, by assuring meat products distributed to them are wholesome, not adulterated, and properly marked, and labeled. The Act gives FSIS the authority, as designated by the Secretary of Agriculture, to prescribe rules and regulations describing sanitation requirements for inspected establishments and provide FSIS program personnel the authority to refuse to allow meat/meat food products to be marked, labeled, stamped, or tagged as inspected and passed, to prevent the entry of adulterated products into commerce. Furthermore, the FMIA provides FSIS the authority to appoint inspectors to examine and inspect the method by which livestock are slaughtered and handled at slaughtering establishments.

The HMSA provides that Congress finds that the use of humane methods in the slaughter of livestock prevents needless suffering; results in safer and better working conditions for persons engaged in the slaughtering industry; brings about improvement of products and economies in slaughtering operations; and produces other benefits for producers, processors, and consumers which tend to expedite an orderly flow of livestock and livestock products in interstate and foreign commerce. It is therefore declared to be the policy of the United States that the slaughtering of livestock and the handling of livestock in connection with slaughter shall be carried out only by humane methods.

Under the authority of the Acts, FSIS has prescribed rules and regulations required for establishments slaughtering and handling livestock, as required by 9 CFR Part 313. FSIS has also developed the Rules of Practice regarding administrative enforcement, 9 CFR Part 500. The Rules of Practice describe the types of enforcement actions that FSIS may take and include procedures for taking a withholding action and/or suspension, with or without prior notification, and for filing a complaint to withdraw a grant of inspection. Specifically, 9 CFR 500.3(b) states that FSIS may impose a suspension without providing prior notification due to handling or slaughtering of animals inhumanely.

Findings/Basis for Action

On Monday, October 30, 2023, FSIS Inspection Program Personnel (IPP) documented in a Noncompliance Report (NR) the following event at Est. M20891:

HATS Category VIII: Ineffective Stun

On 10/20/23, at approximately 0858am, I observed the stun operator at Alaska Meat Packers Inc. ineffectively stun a cow with a hand-held captive bolt (HHCB) device in the stun box without a head catch. After the first ineffective stun attempt, I observed the cow lying down in the stun box with its head held upright, showing signs of controlled movement and labored breathing. The stun operator attempted to immediately stun the cow a second time with the backup HHCB device, which I observed the stun operator load, but was unable to reach the cow while leaning over the stun box. After several attempts to get clear placement, the stun operator had another employee hold his legs so he could lean over into the stun box. At approximately 0902am, stun operator applied the second stun attempt which was also ineffective. After the ineffective second stun, the cow began vocalizing. A third stun attempt was applied with one of the reloaded HHCB devices at approximately 0904am. This attempt was also ineffective as the cow continued vocalizing, rhythmic heavy breathing and moving around slightly within the stun box while still holding its head up. After the third ineffective attempt, Ms. Sanders asked the FSIS inspection for advice and/or input on whether the plant should use their firearm instead; to which our inspection team stated, yes please use the firearm. At approximately 0905am, establishment management vacated the slaughter floor to retrieve a firearm (pistol) utilizing .38 special cartridges. Everyone cleared from the slaughter floor and went to a safe location into the hallway/breakroom. At approximately 0908am, the stun operator attempted to stun the cow for the fourth time with the firearm. The attempt was ineffective as the cow continued vocalizing. I continued waiting in the hall for another (fifth) attempt, then an employee came out and informed everyone that the animal was dead. When I walked back onto the slaughter floor at approximately 09:10 am, I observed the cow to already be shackled and hoisted up on the rail, with its neck slit and bleeding out. The animal no longer showed signs of being conscious. At approximately 0913am, I applied U.S. Reject tag to the stun box with U.S. Rejected Tag NO. B35943003. The establishment management was verbally informed of the forthcoming noncompliance.

Upon inspection of the dressed head, three penetrating holes were observed, which were angled into the sinuses.

The Denver District Management Team was notified through supervisory channels. This noncompliance will be associated with NR#EUM5713092526N/1 issued on 9/25/2023. The establishment is currently operating within a deferral period for a humane handling Notice of Intended Enforcement.

Summary and Conclusion

Provisions of the FMIA outline FSIS' ability to refuse to render inspection and indefinitely withdraw inspection from an establishment, provided the establishment is afforded the right to an administrative hearing, when conditions exist where the slaughter and/or handling of livestock was not by a method in accordance with the Act(s). Evidence demonstrates your failure to meet regulatory requirements addressed in 9 CFR 313.15(a)(1), 313.15(b)(1)(iii), and 313.16(a)(1), constituting a violation of the humane slaughter requirements, and supporting the conclusion that your handling of livestock violated the provisions of the FMIA and HMSA.

Please provide a written response, inclusive of written corrective action and preventative measures, by addressing the following:

- Evaluate and identify the nature and cause of the incident.
- Describe the specific actions taken to eliminate the cause of the incident and prevent future recurrences.
- Describe specific monitoring activities planned to ensure future compliance.
- Provide any supporting documentation and records maintained and/or associated with the proposed corrective actions and preventative measures.

A determination of further administrative action will be made upon receipt and review of your submitted corrective actions and preventative measures. You are reminded that, as an operator of a federally inspected establishment, you are expected to comply with FSIS regulations and to take appropriate corrective actions to prevent the production of or adulterated products at your establishment. Please be advised that your failure to respond adequately to these issues may result in our initiating action to withdraw inspection from your establishment.
